CHT Group's local production facility in Bangladesh strengthens customer proximity and delivery capabilities

The CHT Group combines its global chemical expertise with a local presence through its production facility in Bangladesh. Manufacturing in one of the world's most important textile regions strengthens our proximity to customers and partners, enables reliable on-site support, and contributes to transparent and resilient supply chains.

Company Overview

CHT Bangladesh was founded in 2021 and is a wholly owned subsidiary of the CHT Group. The company manufactures and supplies innovative and sustainable chemical textile auxiliaries for the textile industry in Bangladesh.

Production Facility

The production facility is located in the Meghna Industrial Economic Zone in Sonargaon (Narayanganj) and opened in 2023. Its strategic location along the highway between Dhaka and Chittagong shortens travel times and often enables same-day delivery to customer locations. Local manufacturing reduces lead times and increases delivery reliability.

Market proximity and customer partnerships

With production at the heart of Bangladesh's textile industry, the CHT Group ensures rapid product availability, short response times, and reliable service. Close technical collaboration with textile customers and brands supports the early identification of requirements and the joint development of tailored solutions. On-site contacts provide continuous project support and foster long-term partnerships based on direct communication and trust.

Global Expertise Meets Local Responsibility

European technology and quality principles are implemented on-site by qualified teams, ensuring consistently high quality and safety in accordance with European standards. The ongoing exchange between the CHT Group and our partner RH Corporation supports the development of customized solutions and strengthens technical expertise across all relevant application areas.

Sustainability in Production

Sustainability is a central component of CHT Group's production and business practices. This includes environmentally conscious production processes, reduced transport emissions through local manufacturing, and supporting customers in meeting ESG and compliance requirements. The portfolio comprises products that meet current requirements in the textile sector.

The facility utilizes advanced technologies, including the reuse of wastewater via treatment plants and zero-liquid-discharge systems, solar energy to meet a significant portion of daily energy needs, the collection and treatment of rainwater for process water, and an architecture designed to maximize natural light, thereby reducing energy consumption.

Customer Benefits at a Glance

Customers benefit from a reliable local supply, transparent production conditions in accordance with European standards, and high product quality and consistency in line with CHT Group standards. Regional availability reduces supply chain risks; technical support is provided by local and global teams. All products meet the applicable requirements and standards in the textile industry.

Our Commitment

CHT combines sustainable innovation with responsible business practices and collaborative partnerships – firmly rooted in Bangladesh and globally connected through the CHT Group.
